Getting out this paper is no picnic. If we print jokes, people say we are silly. If we don't they say we are too serious. If we stick close to the office all day, we ought to be around hunting material. If we go out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job in the office. If we don't print contributions, we don't appreciate genius. And if we do print them the paper is filled with junk! If we edit the other fellow's write-up we're too critical; If we don't, we're asleep, if we do clip things from other papers, we are too lazy to write them ourselves. If we don't we are stuck on our own stuff.

Now, like as not some guy will say we swiped this from some paper. *

* We did.

SENIOR PERSONALITIES

ESSEX BURKS

The spotlight shines its ray now upon a short, flirty-type Senior boy, who is none other than Essex "Pete" Burks. (As tho' you wouldn't know by the description.) "Pete" who is noted for his good dancing and flirting with the girls, is interested mostly in "girls." When asked what was his favorite subject, he replied, "Girls! I love 'em all!!" Essex selects baseball and cocoanut pie among some of his favorites. Essex likes to wear sport clothes, especially "loud-colored" shirts.

Dancing is Essex's favorite pastime—both round-and-square dancing. Wherever there is a dance around in the community Essex can be found. "Need You" is his favorite song.

Among the organizations here at school to which he belongs are: Glee Club, baseball team, manager basketball team, and dramatic club.

After graduation Essex plans to work, but as to where he hasn't given it much consideration.

Well, we must leave Essex now, but we wish him good luck and hope that he will be successful in the future.

MARGARET ADDISON

The dark-haired miss appearing in Senior Personalities this issue is Margaret Addison. Margaret, who is known to her classmates and other friends as "Sue" or "Baby," is always jolly and gay and keeps everyone around happy because of her witty ways. Natch! She was voted the wittiest girl in the Senior class. Sue's favorite pastime is loafing, and government is her favorite subject. Her hobby is collecting pictures, and she also "loves" to collect picture postcards. Sue's favorite pet is a black cat.

When attending movies she likes to see John Wayne and Joan Fontaine star. Sue can usually be found sitting by the radio about 7:15 p.m. every evening listening to "Beulah," as that's her favorite radio program. Sue's pet peeve is "people who put on" and brag."

Sue takes part in many school activities. The activities in which she participates are: Glee Club, basketball team, Thespians, Leaders Club, girls' sports editor of "Telleatorium," physical education captain, and sports editor of "Islander."

Comes June 3 and graduation,

JACK DEWITT

It is seldom you come across a boy who is so quiet and shy but liked so much by his classmates and everyone as Jack DeWitt, who has been selected to appear in Senior Personalities this issue. Jack is very cooperative and willing to help everyone in anyway he can.

Jack spends his leisure time reading. His favorite author is Appleton and government his favorite subject.

Jack, who says that "I don't know" is his favorite saying, selects baseball as his favorite sport. Naturally, he is a member of the baseball squad. He is also a member of the 4-H club.

Jack plans to "do a little farming" after graduation.

Best wishes, Jack!

Sue plans to work at the National Container Corporation of Big Island.

Best of luck to someone who will really be missed!

'Deep River Quartet'

Presents Assembly

Big Island High School was very proud to sponsor the "Deep River Quartet" in the school auditorium on April 29.

The quartet sang plantation songs, spirituals and a number of humorous "fun songs."

One of the members of the quartet announced each song and told a little of the history of the quartet. They got their start in high school in Indianapolis, Ind. The members ranged in age from twenty-four to twenty-nine years of age. One of the professors at the high school in Indianapolis still arranges the music for the quartet.

It has often been said that the Negro's great contribution to American culture lies in the field of music. A performance by the Deep River Jubilee Quartet gives new meaning to this assertion.

Senior Class Prophecy

As I gazed into the future
Far as human eye could see
Saw the visions of the world
And all the wonders that would be.

My time is short for the crystal ball will become misty, but let us gaze into the future of the class of '49. The time is year 1959.

The misty veil is slowly clearing, and I see a large Southern plantation. The household is planning a fox hunt. "Gaylord" Rattier Tomlin, the owner of the plantation is leading out the hunting hounds. The class of '49 knows the hunt will be a success as "Rattler" was such a hunter in his school days.

Lo! the scene is fading, but another vision comes before my eyes. It is a fleet of ships, the admiral of the fleet is none other than "Punkie" Rice who enjoys doing the brain work.

Ah! I see that the Brooklyn Dodgers have won the World Series again, with Wayne Rhodes pitching, Russell Markham hitting and Jack DeWitt catching.

The scene has changed to a modest little bungalow, a happy family is seated on the lawn, and a closer look tells me that this is the former May Inge and Charles and two little Pruitts.

I see Doris Manley as the National F. H. A. president. Doris travels all over the U. S. A. in her private airplane, visiting F. H. A. chapters. Sometimes she takes her devoted husband on her trips.

The crystal ball is becoming slightly cloudy, but wait, it is clearing. I find that I am in the law office of J. P. Oliver. After graduation from the law school of Washington and Lee University, John Penn has become a very successful lawyer.

The scene has shifted to the great metropolis of Big Island, right in the center of the shopping center is a large grocery store of which "Tiny" Goff is owner and general manager. From his experience at Mason's, Tiny has become a successful merchant.

Jean Snead, a secretary, has found work with a very successful and handsome business man. There is soon to be a partnership.

Douglas Parks, having married quite early, took his pretty bride to his lovely Charlemont estate. Doug is teaching Doug., Jr., the farming business.

After graduating from high school, Lewis Mitchell went into politics. Senator Mitchell is now in a session of Congress proposing a bill for paved roads through "Sweet Hollow."

The scene is Broadway where the sensational dancing star Essex is playing his latest hit. The critics say that this is his best.

The Tomlinson Photographer Company is doing a tremendous business. Of course, Smiley is owner and head photographer.

The chief chemist of the National Container Corporation, Margaret Addison, has just returned from Jacksonville, Florida, where she has been in conference with chemists from all over the world, but the stunning diamond on her third finger left hand tells us that "Sue" plans to settle down and try a few experiments of her own.

Charles McNeely, chief telegraph operator for the Chesapeake and Ohio, is doing art work in his leisure time at his studio in Coleman Falls.

Alas! the crystal ball has become cloudy. That is all it cares to prophesy, but my own future is undecided. I wonder if the crystal ball is right or whether I have been deceived by my visions. I only hope the future will be as bright as the prophetic sight I have seen.

Book Review*The Yearling

by Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings

The Yearling is a story about a family that lived near Jacksonville, Florida. Penny Baxter was the father, Ma Baxter, the mother and Jody, their twelve-year-old freckle-face son.

The Baxters were poor people that is they made a living only from the few crops they raised and the wild meat they caught. They lived in a rather small cabin. They had only one cow "Trixey," and a few hogs.

One day Penny and Jody found that a bear which they named "Old Slewfoot," had been at their barn and killed their sow. Later the same old bear with a missing toe, killed a calf. At once, Penny and Jody set out to kill the bear.

Judy played with Fodder-Wing Forrester who was crippled. They were the best of friends. Later Fodder-Wing became ill. Jody's father was bitten by a snake one day while out hunting for his hogs. He had to kill a doe to draw the poison out of his arm, by the heart or the liver of the doe. Judy found that the doe had a fawn. After Jody had gone for help to the Forresters, he went back to the swamp and found the fawn.

Jody and Penny would stay at the Hutta's whenever they to town. Jody always liked to stay at Gramma Hutta's as she always gave him cookies. They celebrated when Gramma's son Oliver came home from the navy. Oliver got in a fight with the Forrester's over his girl, Twink, who Judy disliked.

A big rain came which lasted for eight days. Penny, Ma, and Jody and the fawn remained in the house until the big rain was over which flooded the already swamp land.

Oliver came back from Boston with Twink, who he had married and found out that while Gramma Hutta was at the Christmas celebration that her house had burned down so Gramma went back to Boston with Oliver and Twink.

Jody's new grown deer destroyed the crop. He was told to kill him.

Jody ran away from home. Did he return?

Were Penny and Jody able to kill the deer?

What happened to Fodder-Wing Forrester and how about Penny who was bitten by a snake?

Did Jody kill his deer Flag? You will find out if you read the "Yearling," which is a very interesting book about life in Florida back-woods.
